The Boulder Children's Chorale is one of the ensembles of the Boulder Chorale, a 501 (C)(3) organization. As such, it is a secular, non-political entity. The Boulder Chorale has in place policies supporting equal employment opportunity, and against harassment and discrimination.

THE BOULDER CHORALE

In the 46 years since it began as an outgrowth of the Boulder Civic Opera, the Chorale has grown from 15 to 170 members and has continuously modified its structure and repertoire. The oldest and largest community choral organization in the area, it is now a highly respected musical group in the community, known for the excellent quality and variety of its offerings. The Chorale is regularly invited to collaborate with orchestras, other vocal groups, and a variety of other musical ensembles in the Front Range area. The addition of the Boulder Children's Chorale to the current adult ensemble makes the Boulder Chorale an umbrella organization offering a place for all who wish to sing, regardless of musical experience or age.
